Excellent class and very responsive teacher.

I enjoyed how many varying assignments there were in this course, however, the practice test and actual exam contain very different content.

Not too intense for a winter course! I feel like I have a solid foundation to continue learning about economics. Very informative and engaging!

The grade book was managed very poorly this semester. Its the end of the semester, and I don't know what grade I even have since it's so mismanaged. Why are practice tests on the books? Why are the exams not being equally weighed?

Everything was on the Canvas and I appreciated the straightforward nature of this course.

For a 4week course we had a insurmountable about of homework that made it difficult to try and actually learn.

The practice exams and actual exams contained very different material.

This class was taught by McGraw Hill exclusively, I may as well have just watched YouTube videos in my free time if not for the fact that Price business college requires this course. Our professor did the bare minimum.

I really enjoyed how fast this course went. It allowed me to apply ideas learned just last week in the current lessons, driving home the subjects and helping me understand the broader picture.

I think that a more immediate response from the teacher on our discussion submissions would further strengthen our understanding of what was expected in a response.

I hope that my weekly chats were satisfactory, since none of them have been graded yet. If I've been doing something wrong, then I'm not aware of it and this it will be the same in all weekly discussions.

Loved the disclaimer at the beginning of the course regarding differences of opinion and respect!

24. Which elements of this course had the most positive impact on your engagement and/or learning?

I found the most impactful part of this course for my learning would be the "LearnSmart" activities through Connect. These allowed me to master more topics and understand each section better.

The ability to do the work on my time frame.

The case studies really helped me apply what I was learning to real-life scenarios.

I am not sure because there was an overwhelming amount of homework with the learnsmart activities due every day.

The discussions helped a lot with engagement

I feel overall the course was well covered and I good a good learning of the topics covered.

Varying assignments

Critical thinking with the case studies.

McGraw Hill changed from a book format to a video format, which I have mixed feelings on. I have a hard time understanding some accents, and so I had to rely on video transcripts consistently. The information was presented professionally by the videographers, so no complaints there.

Creative thinking

I think that the case studies were most helpful as they gave us an opportunity to explore different economic scenarios fully. I can recall the case study with the Russian vodka market and how from the beginning we had to consider a problem from all angles. Really helped to understand!

25. Which elements of this course could be improved to have a more positive impact on your engagement and/or learning?

I would like to receive the Case Study discussion grades back more quickly as well as hear feedback on them.

I would have loved more explanation of the math needed to complete work in the interactive graphs

Taking away the learnsmart activities.

Less work load

I would not change anything about the course.

Tests weighing less/matching material discussed better with time with this course

It kind of feels like I've been robbed of my tuition fees. This class was something I could have learned in my free time exclusively through YouTube videos with the same exact effectiveness as presented in this course. That is unacceptable. Next time I would like a professor to actually handle some of the work load rather than pushing it off to McGraw Hill assignments every day.

Conducting Analysis

None! A great canvas course! I especially liked the part at the beginning where the professor asked for a personal email from all of us stating our favorite. A silly way to make sure we read the assignments. Loved this class!
